OPINION DENYING LEAVE TO PROCEED IN FORMA PAUPERIS - THREE STRIKES

Plaintiff Vernon Nunnery, a prisoner incarcerated at Huron Valley Complex, filed a complaint pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiff seeks leave to proceed in forma pauperis. Because Plaintiff has filed at least three lawsuits which were dismissed as frivolous, he is barred from proceeding in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The Court will order Plaintiff to pay the $250.00 civil action filing fee within thirty days of this opinion and accompanying order, and if Plaintiff fails to do so, the Court will order that his action be dismissed without prejudice. Even if the case is dismissed, Plaintiff will be responsible for payment of the $250.00 filing fee in accordance with In re Alea, 286 F3d 378, 380-81 (6th Cir. 2002).

Discussion

The Prison Litigation Reform Act (PLRA), Pub. L. No. 104-134, 110 Stat. 1321 (1996), which was enacted on April 26, 1996, amended the procedural rules governing a prisoner's request for the privilege of proceeding in forma pauperis. As the Sixth Circuit has stated, the PLRA was “aimed at the skyrocketing numbers of claims filed by prisoners—many of which are meritless—and the corresponding burden those filings have placed on the federal courts.” Hampton v. Hobbs, 106 F.3d 1281, 1286 (6th Cir. 1997). For that reason, Congress put into place economic incentives to prompt a prisoner to “stop and think” before filing a complaint. Id. For example, a prisoner is liable for the civil action filing fee, and if the prisoner qualifies to proceed in forma pauperis, the prisoner may pay the fee through partial payments as outlined in 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b). The constitutionality of the fee requirements of the PLRA has been upheld by the Sixth Circuit. Id. at 1288.

In addition, another provision reinforces the “stop and think” aspect of the PLRA by preventing a prisoner from proceeding in forma pauperis when the prisoner repeatedly files meritless lawsuits. Known as the “three-strikes” rule, the provision states:

In no event shall a prisoner bring a civil action or appeal a judgment in a civil action or proceeding under [the section governing proceedings in forma pauperis] if the prisoner has, on 3 or more prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it is frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury.

28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The statutory restriction “[i]n no event,” found in § 1915(g), is express and unequivocal. The statute does allow an exception for a prisoner who is “under imminent danger of serious physical injury.” The Sixth Circuit has upheld the constitutionality of the “three-strikes” rule against arguments that it violates equal protection, the right of access to the courts, and due process, and that it constitutes a bill of attainder and is ex post facto legislation. Wilson v. Yaklich, 148 F.3d 596, 604-606 (6th Cir.1998); accord Rodriguez v. Cook, 169 F.3d 1176, 1178-82 (9th Cir. 1999); Rivera v. Allin, 144 F.3d 719, 723-26 (11th Cir. 1998); Carson v. Johnson, 112 F.3d 818, 821-22 (5th Cir. 1997).

Plaintiff has been an active litigant in the federal courts in Michigan. The Court has dismissed at least four of his actions as frivolous. See Nunnery v. Mosqawitz, No. 4:98-cv-91 (W.D. Mich. Nov. 30, 1998); Nunnery v. Michigan Judicial Legis., No. 4:92-cv-168 (W.D. Mich. June 30, 1993); Nunnery v. Michigan Dep't of Corr., No. 2:91-cv-138 (W.D. Mich. Nov. 19, 1991); Nunnery v. Hynek, No. 4:90-cv-142 (W.D. Mich. Jan. 3, 1991). Although three of the dismissals were entered before enactment of the PLRA on April 26, 1996, they nevertheless count as strikes. See Wilson, 148 F.3d at 604. Petitioner also has been denied leave to proceed in forma pauperis in several previous cases because he has three strikes. See Nunnery v. Mosqawitz, No. 4:98-cv-91 (W.D. Mich. Sept. 4, 1998); Nunnery v. Holland, No. 4:98-cv-140 (W.D. Mich. June 11, 1999); Nunnery v. Mosqawitz, No. 4:99-cv-46 (W.D. Mich. May 4, 1999).

In his complaint, Plaintiff alleges that Defendants “were all attempting to castrate and amputate with wire computers on his Nunnery’s testicals [sic] and penis.” He further claims that “[a]ll computers were locked on my testicals [sic] radio burns, electric burns, puss and blood/shit all down the legs of the Plaintiff.” A district court has the discretion to discredit factual claims of imminent danger that are “clearly baseless,” i.e., allegations that are fantastic or delusional and rise to the level of the “irrational or wholly incredible.” Gibbs v. Cross, 160 F.3d 962, 967 (3d Cir. 1998) (quoting Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 33 (1992)); see also Chance v. Tennessee, No. 02-5322, 2002 WL 31255478, at *1 (6th Cir. Oct. 7, 2002) (allegations that the plaintiff was the target of a government-sponsored “contract hit” were insufficient to establish imminent danger). Plaintiff’s allegations are clearly delusional; therefore, he may not proceed in forma pauperis under the imminent danger exception to the three-strikes provision.

In light of the foregoing, § 1915(g) prohibits Plaintiff from proceeding in forma pauperis in this action. Plaintiff has thirty days from the date of entry of this order to pay the entire civil action filing fee, which is $250.00. When Plaintiff pays his filing fee, the Court will screen his complaint as required by 28 U.S.C. § 1915A and 42 U.S.C. § 1997e(c). If Plaintiff fails to pay the filing fee within the thirty-day period, his case will be dismissed without prejudice, but he will continue to be responsible for payment of the $250.00 filing fee.
